The Student Scientific Society (SSS) of Lankaran State University was re-formed in the academic year 2018-2019. In accordance with the relevant requirements of the Ministry of Education and Science, the regulations of the Student Scientific Society were drawn up. Based on the regulations, the action plan of SSS was prepared. According to the model regulations of the Ministry of Education and Science regarding the Student Scientific Society and the relevant regulations of the Student Scientific Research Work, the activities of LSU SSS were mainly planned and implemented in two directions:

- 1- Action plan of Student Scientific Research Study Group (SSRSG);
- 2- General action plan of LSU Student Scientific Society for students oriented towards scientific development;

During the academic year 2018-2019 of Lankaran State University, 11 SSRSGs were operating in the existing 4 faculties. In addition to general events in the direction of science, educational seminars on conducting scientific research were regularly held at SSRSG during the academic year. Seminars were organized for students on certain topics planned by academic teachers every month. The main purpose of these training-seminars is to form the skills of preparation and presentation of scientific theses in students. On April 18, 2019, the 1st scientific conference of Student Scientific Society (SSS) dedicated to the 96th anniversary of the birth of National Leader Heydar Aliyev was held and thesis materials were published. At the same time, all the participants of the conference were rewarded with diplomas and distinguished speakers were rewarded with honorary certificates by the incumbent rector prof. Natig İbrahimov

For the academic year 2020-2021, the activity of the SSS was continued in full compliance with the conditions of the pandemic period, seminars for departments and faculties were carried out on the Microsoft Teams platform.
