

LSU has several places that could meet your needs for coworking or meeting spaces with internet access. Here are a few options you might consider:

1. Library Services & Facilities

It is mainly designated for use by students and faculty but it provides nice collaborative areas, computers as well as high speed internet. In other words it is a nice place to get some work done in peace or have study sessions in fellowship. Library believes in providing various facilities for group activities and boasts expansive study areas within. The library even has some desktop computers and the internet.

2. Coworking room

It contains shared working areas, conference rooms, and special areas for events with high speed internet connection. there are various types of lounges, meeting rooms, and common areas where students can read, work, interact, or telecommute. All these spaces have Wi-Fi and power outlets with cozy chairs and tables to support both personal and teamwork activities.

3. Internet access room

The Internet access room, situated in the LSU provides new meeting rooms and internet ready workspaces for collaboration. It's an ideal venue for students focused on multimedia or digital teamwork.

4. Meeting halls

The Meeting halls incorporates modern facilities with business center characteristics, including meeting and group work collaborative zones. The internet coverage is dependable, and there are materials for students and people in Business oriented activities.

5. LSU Study Lounges

On campus, a number of the residential halls have study lounges or coworking spaces that have internet connections. These areas are mostly for use of the residents, though other students may also have access to them.

6. The LSU Social room

LSU social room is used mainly for sporting activities, however, the centre has some lounges and Wi-Fi areas where students can sit and work in between their lectures. This may not probably be the usual flexi working space, nonetheless, it allows a few people to convene for meetings or to engage in solo duties.

7. The Innovation Center

The Innovation Center offers high-speed internet access and group work areas. Any member of the LSU community who needs a conducive atmosphere for creativity and teamwork can use it.

8. LSU Research room

LSU Research room is situated adjacent to the LSU campus and provides office and meeting space and coworking facilities to students, faculty. It is a perfect place for meeting new people, working on projects.

